Mendeleev's Periodic Table, free download, online ... Mendeleev's periodic table is not only a table by which you can study the Periodic law and the periodic system of chemical elements ... Chemistry Tables for Grade 8. D.I. Mendeleev's periodic system of chemical elements. Tables on chemistry 9th grade. Periodic system of chemical elements by D.I. Mendeleev. The periodic table of chemical elements is the most important invention of D.I. Mendeleev. It is a graphical representation in which each chemical element is in the place that corresponds to the serial number of the element in the periodic system. For the convenience of studying chemistry material, Mendeleev's periodic table is divided into eight classes. Each class represents one group. In the periodic system of chemical elements there are 6 periods, each period has 8 groups containing 8 elements. Consequently, there are 8 subclasses in each class. Consider period I, subclass I, group No. 11, consisting of five elements. There are 8 subclasses in period I. Each subclass is in turn divided into groups. The groups have eight elements each. Thus, there are 8 groups in each subclass. In period II, in subclass I, group No. 1 is represented by 7 elements. There are 8 groups in each subclass. In period III, subclass I, group No 2 is represented by 10 elements. There are 8 groups in I subclass and 10 groups in II subclass. In III period, in I subclass, group No 1 is represented by 8 elements. There are 10 groups in I subclass and 15 groups in II. In III period, in I subclass, group No 2 is represented by 10 elements. There are 8 groups in I subclass and 10 groups in II. In III period, in I subclass, group No 1 is represented by 8 elements. There are 10 groups in I subclass and 12 groups in II. There are 12 groups in I subclass and 16 groups in II. Of these, in Division I, only 8 groups, and in Division II, only 6 groups. These are very small percentages. This suggests that Jews have no chance in Period III. They have no chance of getting into Division I because they don't fit in by nationality, and in Division II, because they are already not needed here in Russia. They are already here, we already deal with them here, and we do not need anything with them here. Therefore, since Jewry, in this respect, is a very homogeneous element and easy to be measured, we can safely say that Jewry is one of the most smallest group of peoples, and in this respect we are dealing with one of the of the smallest groups of people. And as such, it could not have achieved those the successes, the wealth, the tremendous strength that it has, if it without the support, without the help and support of those nations, which in turn have it. All this has been and will be in the future the fate of all Jewry. This is what Jewry, as such, has as
